Born in Bergamo (Italy) in 1984, I studied at the Polytechnic of Milan where, in May 2010, I graduated with honors in Interior Architecture with a thesis about "Inhabiting the Limit" realized in collaboration with the Department of Structural Engineering of the Polytechnic of Milan. In 2009 I started collaborating at Francesca Perani Enterprise, working in the fields of graphics, product design, interior design and architecture. In the last few years I have been involved in collaborations with private firms, public institutions, as well as with the Professional Association of Architects of the Province of Bergamo. These experiences allowed me to acquire knowledge and skills and to develop the passions and inclinations I had already shown during her studies, especially in the fields of architecture, interior design and graphics. My research interests revolve around two main thematic poles: interior design, with a special attention to furnishing solutions that merge in the architectural space, and graphics, brand design and the study of corporate identity. I love work, as well as life, with curiosity and enthusiasm. To borrow Saul Bass' words "Interesting things happen when the creative impulse is cultivated with curiosity, freedom and intensity".
